A body building demonstration is performed by Tom Stone, John Hester, and Tom Byrne.

Rope jumpers gather in order to practice for the Gym Show.

Students Demonstrate Skills Through

Doug Goodall does a spectacular performance on the parallel bars and holds the attention of everyone in the audience.

Tumblers meet, pause, and then gracefully somersault in opposite directions. Mr. Welbron, Mrs. Griffith, and Mrs. Lundsay spent many hours planning the gymnastics for the March performances.

A father and son team on the marimba and drums add interest to the talent show, "Foliage Fantacies." The proceeds from the show went toward beautifying the school grounds.

Mental and Physical Co-ordination

Ted Loudermilk performs a magnificent rendition of "Bumble Boogie" before a capacity audience in the first annual talent show.

Diana Moilanen, Karen McNett, and Sherrie Mertz do a unique tap dance.

The science fair gives future scientists a chance to prove their skill.

Locker inspection is necessary to make sure all students have their own books, and to see that lockers are kept clean. Ruthann Albertson makes a last minute check of her books.

Some School Day Breaks Are Worthwhile

Mr. Lesh uses his snack break to keep the doctor away.

Mrs. Fettig receives her apple on teacher appreciation day.

Homeroom representatives present gifts for the Allen County Children's Home to make it a merrier Christmas. Also, athletic equipment was purchased for the needy children with the generous donations from the students.

We Give School Projects Full Support

The sweatshirt sale gave many loyal Vikings a chance to show their spirit and colors.

School parties were encouraged to give students an opportunity to relax and socialize. Because of our schedule, they took place on Saturday.

Mrs. Haines is assisted in the library by Ron Ritter, Jack Smith, and Londa Seitz. The librarian passes on her skills to her helpers.

Debra Shipman gives up her study hall in order to help the secretaries in the office.

Freshmen Give Study Time to School

Mr. Beer demonstrates the operation of a film projector to Mike Strong, Kurt Mundinger, and Tom Clark. Audio Visual Club members supply classrooms with the necessary Audio Visual Equipment.

Teachers as well as students had to adjust to our odd schedule. Many members of the faculty found themselves preparing for their classes in the morning. All the teachers had the opportunity to cook their own lunches. Despite this situation there was no sacrifice in teaching.

FACULTY

Mr. McClain Leads Staff and Students

Mr. Ralph McClain, principal, supervises the instructional program and assists the teachers. He is also in charge of planning the overall school program.

This year he arrived early each morning even though his students and faculty members did not arrive until noon. He felt that he could get many odd jobs out of the way before he greeted his staff and students.

The principal is a graduate of Indiana University with an A.B. degree in mathematics and science, and a Masters degree in school administration.

In Fort Wayne, he has taught at Hoagland and South Side. He was principal at Abbett, South Wayne, and Smart before coming to Lane last year.

Mr. McClain feels that it has been a privilege to be able to offer and to share facilities with Snider high.

Mr. Neil Lantz, the staff assistant of the largest junior high in the city, is a graduate of Indiana University with a Bachelors and Masters degree.

He looks upon his duty as to do anything to help students and staff members work toward the best possible education of the students.

Mr. Lantz coordinates the guidance program through the homerooms, counsels students with regards to personal, educational, and vocational problems and decisions.

Mr. Lantz Assists the Staff and Principal

School secretaries are Mrs. Presley (left) and Mrs. Crandall (right). Mrs. Presley is also the school treasurer.

Classroom work was packed into forty minute periods during our school day. Lane students became accustomed to studying in the mornings since classes lasted until late in the afternoon. History students (at left) remained alert at five o'clock.

ACADEMICS

Junior high students gain more knowledge about math as they master the basic principles. More complicated addition, subtraction, multiplication, and division were covered by these students in Mr. Schmidt's class.

Modern World Needs Modern Math

Along with discovering the unknown in Algebra class, students get a chance to learn about figuring proportions and other things which the slide rule can solve.

Geometry is now being applied to rocket design and space exploration. It deals with proportion of points, lines, planes, and solids.

Sciences Create a General Awareness

Students learn about the complex animal world in Biology class. This time they are dissecting a fish.

During one unit of study in science class, experimenters investigated the process of evaporation and condensation.

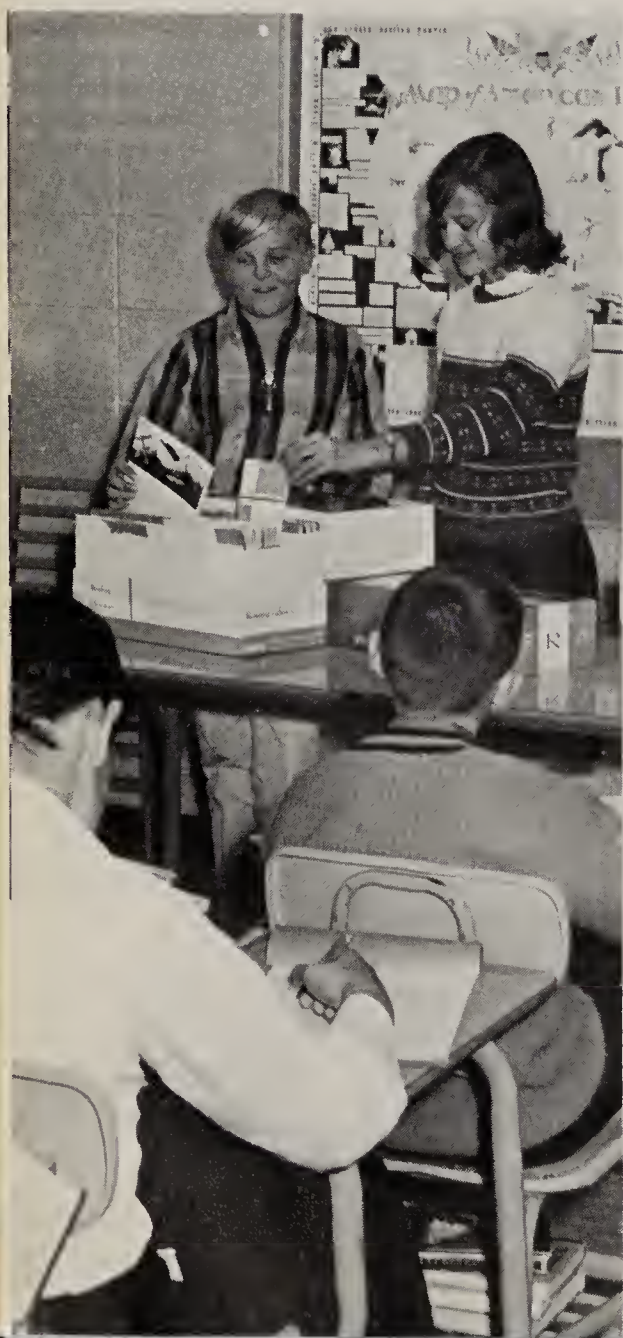

Geography is offered to seventh graders only. They build general concepts about each country as they study land, people, culture, and history. Map studies are a must and films supplement their work.

Mrs. Fettig returns written work to her English students. They improve their methods of communication through written and oral practice.

Required English Has Three Phases

The primary goal of Developmental Reading is to improve comprehension and speed in reading. Vocabulary and library use are also important aspects of this course.

Proper delivery of speech is a major part of Developmental Language class. Student coaches give suggestions to the speaker.

Language Study Begins in Ninth Grade

Miss Nelson asks a few students to model Mexican and Spanish attire as her students learn about cultures different from their own.

French students saw a French flag. They also learned about French foods and menus in order to supplement their language study.

Frequently, Latin students had to practice their knowledge of verbs by writing sentences on the blackboard. All language students sang carols in their respective languages at the Christmas assembly.

Fine Arts Begin with Introduction

Papier-mâché masks were a fall project. All art activity involves the whole person—his intellect, emotions, and feelings. In junior high, the development of good taste, and the appreciation of the beauty which surrounds one in nature, are stressed to a great degree.

Miss Rich introduces the piano keyboard to seventh grade general music students. In this project, the relationship of both staves to the keyboard is taught. After rehearsal time on the card keyboards, opportunity for transferring the knowledge to the piano is given.

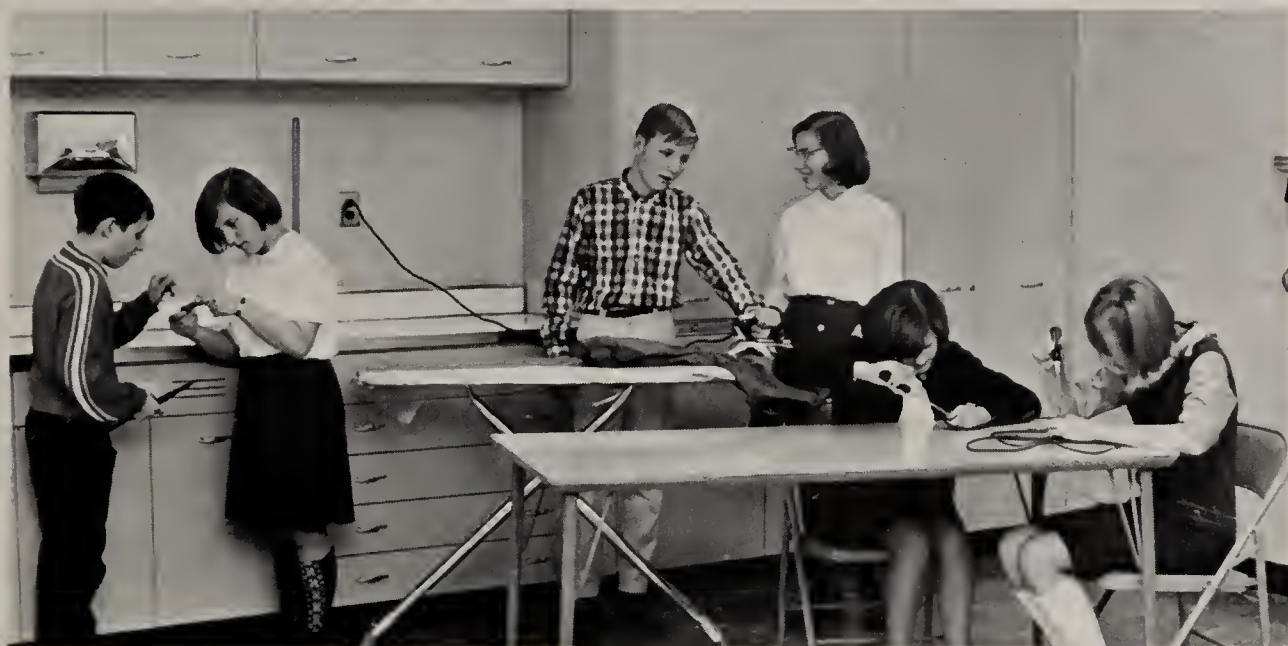

Eighth grade girls are introduced to homemaking in one semester. The first half is spent on grooming and clothing while the second part includes foods and nutrition. Ninth grade girls may elect home-making for the entire year.

Students Obtain Skills for Home Use

What might be considered a man's job or a woman's job is forgotten in home arts class where seventh graders learn about and experiment with the many household tasks. They learn how to use and repair many items found in a home.

Industrial arts is introduced to eighth grade boys for one semester. They may elect to take for their ninth grade year. Lane's new shop is well equipped with the latest machinery.

Health and safety is a ninth grade course which alternates with physical education. This class is co-educational, but some are girls or boys only. All systems of the body are studied. Mrs. Holiday's class examines the function of the liver and kidneys.

All Around Fitness Is Stressed

One phase of boys physical education is learning about wrestling. Mr. Welborn coaches one pair while the other boys watch. A sliding partition divides the gymnasium in half so that the boys can use one half and the girls can use the other at the same time.

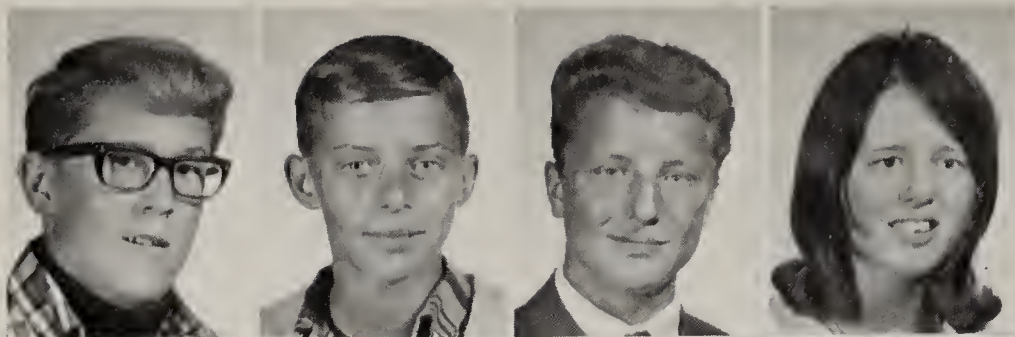

Lane's 1100 students this year have had to adjust to late hours, from 12:15 to 5:10. The 350 ninth graders, 370 eighth graders and 380 seventh graders anticipated "normal" hours sometime in Spring. Each class had a school-sponsored social event to remember. Despite odd hours, the students were not handicapped a great deal.

Sorry, But No Dogs Allowed

Lane Jr. High went along with the accepted procedure of organizing extra curricular activities for the benefit of the students. These activities were limited because of school hours, but many students had the opportunity to participate. In the future Lane hopes to expand its activities in order to meet interests of the students.

Coaches Riley, Welborn, and Kramer fire up the squad.

In its second season, Lane upheld its previous tradition by ending with another prosperous football season. In the 1965 records, there are three losses and eleven victories recorded.

The seventh grade squad proved its success with a perfect season, 3—0.

The eighth grade team also succeeded by losing one out of six games. The one loss occurred at the championship game.

Varsity had a winning season of 3—2. A few problems arose since these boys were playing together for the first time.

Lane Supports First Varsity Team

Basketball, for all grades, did not result in a winning season, but the same Old Gold spirit was strong as usual. At almost all of the home games, the bleachers were filled to capacity with boosting Viking fans.

Ending with three wins and nine losses, varsity topped the seventh and eighth grade records. The eighth grade squad won one of twelve games. Non-spectator seventh grade resulted in three wins.

After the third quarter, the varsity slacked off and Lakeside won the game.

The seventh grade team played their home games at Glenwood Elementary school.

With raised arms, Tom Wade charges to scramble for the ball.

An eighth grade Viking prevents one of the Hawks from dribbling in for a layup.

The seventh grade squad chases its opponents to the other end of the court.

In it goes and adds another point to our greatest victory, 65—31.
